DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Applicant's election without traverse of Group I in Paper No. 9 is acknowledged.

Claims 1-3, 11, 20, 21, 23 & 28 will be examined; claims 4-10, 12-19, 22, 24-17 and 29 have been withdrawn from consideration.

SPECIAL CIRCUMSTANCES OF THIS APPLICATION:

2. Even if a copending application is listed as a parent to the instant application and material information is technically of record in one or more parent applications, the unusually large number of applicant's cases in varying stages of the examination process might result in one or more parent applications not being readily available for review, or material information of record not being readily apparent. Applicant should point out such material information to the examiner of the instant application if the criteria for materiality applies, and if the examination record provides applicant reason to believe such information has not been considered by the examiner.

If, to the best of applicant's knowledge, applicant has no previous patent or copending application, which would meet the definition of "material," applicant is requested to make a statement of that fact of record.

Any parent application labeled as a CIP or Divisional is assumed to claim a patentably distinct invention from the claims of this application and therefore the issue of double patenting has not been considered and the rights to priority are limited to the common disclosed subject matter unless it is brought to the examiners attention that some claims are not distinct.

37 CFR 1.56 is cited here:

37 CFR 1.56. Duty to disclose information material to patentability.

(b) Under this section, information is material to patentability when it is not cumulative to information already of record or being made of record in the application, and

(1) It establishes, by itself or in combination with other information, a prima facie case of unpatentability of a claim; or

(2) It refutes, or is inconsistent with, a position the applicant takes in:

(i) Opposing an argument of unpatentability relied on by the Office, or

(ii) Asserting an argument of patentability.

Art Unit: 3724

A prima facie case of unpatentability is established when the information compels a conclusion that a claim is unpatentable under the preponderance of evidence, burden-of-proof standard, giving each term in the claim its broadest reasonable construction consistent with the specification, and before any consideration is given to evidence which may be submitted in an attempt to establish a contrary conclusion of patentability.

Double Patenting

3. The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and, In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

4. Claims 1, 20, and 28 are provisionally rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claim 5 of copending Application No. 10/100211. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because they differ only in claim terminology used but encompass the same subject matter.

This is a provisional obviousness-type double patenting rejection because the conflicting claims have not in fact been patented.

5. Claim 20 is provisionally rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claim 13 of copending Application No. 10/215,929. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because they differ only in claim terminology used but encompass the same subject matter.

This is a provisional obviousness-type double patenting rejection because the conflicting claims have not in fact been patented.

Comments on Commonly Assigned Applications

6. Claims 1, 20 and 28 are directed to an invention not patentably distinct from the claims, see above, of commonly assigned applications, for the reasons stated above.

The U.S. Patent and Trademark Office normally will not institute an interference between applications or a patent and an application of common ownership (see MPEP § 2302). Commonly assigned applications, discussed above, would form the basis for a rejection of the noted claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) if the commonly assigned case qualifies as prior art under 35 U.S.C. 102(f) or (g) and the conflicting inventions were not commonly owned at the time the invention in this application was made. In order for the examiner to resolve this issue, the assignee is required under 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and 37 CFR 1.78(c) to either show that the conflicting inventions were commonly owned at the time the invention in this application was made or to name the prior inventor of the conflicting subject matter. Failure to comply with this requirement will result in a holding of abandonment of the application.

A showing that the inventions were commonly owned at the time the invention in this application was made will preclude a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) based upon the commonly assigned case as a reference under 35 U.S.C. 102(f) or (g), or 35 U.S.C. 102(e) for applications filed on or after November 29, 1999.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

7. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

(f) he did not himself invent the subject matter sought to be patented.

8. Claims 1-3 & 11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by US 4,048,886 to Zettler.

Zettler discloses the invention as claimed including a machine comprising: a cutting tool for cutting workpieces (a punch and die); at least one motor configured to drive the cutting tool (inherently attached to cam shaft 22); a detection system 50 configured to detect a dangerous condition associated with the cutting tool (figs. 6a and 6b); a brake mechanism 18 controllable to stop the cutting tool if the dangerous condition is detected; and a control system 400 configured to determine the operability of the brake mechanism and to disable the at least one motor if the brake mechanism is inoperable. The brake mechanism includes a capacitor 128 adapted to store electrical charge, and the control system is configured to determine the capacitance of the capacitor (column 7, lines 4-17). The brake mechanism is adapted to be electrically coupled to the control system, and the control system is configured to disable the at least one motor if the brake mechanism is not coupled to the control system (column 1, lines 47-51).

9. Claims 1-3, 11, 20, 21, 23 and 28 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(f) because the applicant did not invent the claimed subject matter.

It is not clear who actually invented the subject matter of claims 1-3, 11, 20, 21, 23 and 28 because each of the above co-pending applications have different inventive entities. Therefore, it is not clear which portion of the applications where invention by the same inventive entity of the instant application.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

10. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

11. Claims 20-23 and 28 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over US 4,117,752 to Yoneda in view of Zettler.

Yoneda discloses the invention substantially as claimed, including a woodworking machine comprising a cutting tool 14; a detection system 22 adapted to detect contact between a user and the cutting tool; a motor 10 that drives the cutting tool, and a brake system 20 adapted to engage and stop the cutting tool when the detection system detects contact between the user and the cutting tool. Yoneda does not disclose a control system adapted to monitor the detection system and control actuation of the brake system; where the control system is adapted to test at least a portion of the brake system to verify that the portion of the brake system is operational. Zettler teaches the use of a control system adapted to monitor the detection system and control actuation of the brake system; where the control system is adapted to test at least a portion of the brake system to verify that the portion of the brake system is operational in order to increase the safety of the machine, and to not subsequently actuate the motor if the brake system is inoperable (column 1, lines 47-51). Therefore, it would have been obvious to one skilled in the art at the time of the invention to add a the control system of Zettler to the invention of Yoneda in order to monitor and test the brake system of Yoneda to increase the safety of the woodworking machine.

Conclusion

12. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
